What is Making it Digital?

Making it Digital is a Hidden Art Cornwall project with Autonomatic, University College Falmouth's 3D Digital Production Research Cluster. Recognising that many designer-makers are locked out of the innovation revolution, the project enabled ten designer-makers from Cornwall and London to work with the Autonomatic team in order to access and explore the digital technologies at University College Falmouth. This showcase presents the innovative new furniture, jewellery and interior products developed by participants during the project, including work by Charlotte Tangye, Nick Fraser, Sharon Bishop, Daisy Dunlop, Journeyman Furniture, Hannah Maughan, Ismini Samanidou, Gary Allson, Mise en Plis and Anthony Roussel.
